Medical.

Hoofland's German Bitters,
AND
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC.
The Great Remedies for all Diseases of the LIVER, STOMACH, OR DIGESTIVE ORGANS.

Hoofland's German Bitters

Is composed of the pure juices (or, as they are medicinally termed, Extracts) of Roots, Herbs, and Barks, making a preparation, highly concentrated, and entirely free from alcoholic admixture of any kind.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC

Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters with the purest quality of Santa Cruz Rum, Orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public.

Those preferring a Medicine free from Alcoholic admixture, will use

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

Those who have no objection to the combination of the Bitters, as stated, will use

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC.

They are both equally good, and contain the same medicinal virtues, the choice between the two being a mere matter of taste, the Tonic being the most palatable.

The stomach, from a variety of causes, such as Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, etc., is very apt to have its functions deranged. The Liver, sympathizing as closely as it does with the Stomach, then becomes affected, the result of which is that the patient suffers from several or more of the following diseases

Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fullness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heart-burn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried or Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a Lying Posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, etc., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil, and Great Depression of Spirits

The sufferer from these diseases should exercise the greatest caution in the selection of a remedy for his case, purchasing only that which he is assured from his investigations and inquiries possesses true merit, is skilfully compounded, is free from injurious ingredients, and has established for itself a reputation for the cure of these diseases. In this connection we would submit those well-known remedies—

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS,
AND
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC.
PREPARED BY Dr. C. M. JACKSON,
PHILADELPHIA, PA

Twenty-two years since they were first introduced into this country from Germany, during which time they have undoubtedly performed more cures, and benefited suffering humanity to a greater extent, than any other remedies known to the public.

These remedies will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Chronic Diarrhœa, Disease of the Kidneys, and all Diseases arising from a Disordered Liver, Stomach, or Intestines.

DEBILITY,
Resulting from any Cause whatever;
PROSTRATION OF THE SYSTEM,
induced by Severe Labor, Hardships, Exposure, Fevers, etc.

There is no medicine extant equal to these remedies in such cases. A tone and vigor is imparted to the whole system, the appetite is strengthened, food is enjoyed, the stomach digests promptly, the blood is purified, the complexion becomes sound and healthy, the yellow tinge is eradicated from the eyes, a bloom is given to the cheeks, and the weak and nervous invalid becomes a strong and healthy being.

PERSONS ADVANCED IN LIFE,

And feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find in the use of this BITTERS, or the TONIC, an elixir that will instil new life into their veins, restore in a measure the energy and ardor of more youthful days, build up their shrunken forms, and give health and happiness to their remaining years.

NOTICE.

It is a well-established fact that fully one-half of the female portion of our population are seldom in the enjoyment of good health; or, to use their own expression, "never feel well." They are languid, devoid of all energy, extremely nervous, and have no appetite.

To this class of persons the BITTERS, or the TONIC, is especially recommended.

WEAK AND DELICATE CHILDREN

Are made strong by the use of either of these remedies. They will cure every case of MARASMUS, without fail.

Thousands of certificates have accumulated in the hands of the proprietor, but space will allow of the publication of but a few. Those, it will be observed, are men of note and of such standing that they must be believed.

TESTIMONIALS.

HON. GEO. W. WOODWARD,
Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Penna., writes:
Philadelphia, March 16, 1867.
"I find 'Hoofland's German Bitters' is a good tonic useful in diseases of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in cases of debility, and want of nervous action in the system. Yours, truly, GEO. W. WOODWARD."

HON. JAMES THOMPSON,
Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.
Philadelphia, April 28, 1866.
"I consider 'Hoofland's German Bitters' a valuable medicine in case of attacks of Indigestion or Dyspepsia, I can certify this from my experience of it.
Yours, with respect,
JAMES THOMPSON."

FROM REV. JOSEPH H. KENNARD, D. D.,
Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia.
Dr. Jackson—Dear Sir:—I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined; but with a clear proof in various instances and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for once from my usual course, to express my full conviction that for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail; but usually, I doubt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes.
Yours, very respectfully,
J. H. KENNARD,
Eighth, below Coates st.

FROM REV. E. D. FENDALL,
Assistant Editor Christian Chronicle, Philadelphia.
I have derived decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic, to all who are suffering from general debility or from diseases arising from derangement of the liver. Yours, truly,
E. D. FENDALL.

CAUTION.

Hoofland's German Remedies are counterfeited. See that the signature of C. M. JACKSON is on the wrapper of each bottle. All others are counterfeit.

A VISIT FROM ST. NICHOLAS.

'Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there;
The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of sugar-plums danced in their heads;
And mamma in their kerchief, and I in my cap,
Had just settled our brains for a long winter's nap;
When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter,
I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I flew like a flash,
Tore open the shutters, and threw up the sash.
The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow
Gave the lustre of mid-day to objects below;
When, what to my wondering eyes should appear,
But a miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer,
With a little old driver, so lively and quick,
I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick.
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
And he whistled and shouted and called them by name:
"Now, Dasher! now, Dancer! now, Prancer! and Vixen!
On, Comet! on, Cupid! on, Donder! and Blitzen!
To the top of the porch, to the top of the wall!
Now dash away! dash away! dash away, all!"
As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly,
When they meet with an obstacle mount to the sky;
So up to the house-top the coursers they flew,
With the sleigh full of toys and St. Nicholas too;
And then in a twinkling I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each little hoof.
As I drew in my head and was turning around,
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.
He was dressed all in fur from his head to his foot,
And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot;
A bundle of toys he had flung on his back,
And he looked like a peddler just opening his pack.
His eyes, how they twinkled! his dimples, how merry!
His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry!
His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
And the beard of his chin was white as the snow;
The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath.
He had a broad face and a little round belly,
That shook when he laughed like a bowlful of jelly;
He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf,
And I laughed when I saw him in spite of myself.
A wink of his eye and a twist of his head
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread.
He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work,
And filled all the stockings—then turned with a jerk
And laying his finger aside of his nose,
And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose.
He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle—
But I heard him exclaim, as he drove out of sight,
"Merry Christmas to all, and to all a good-night!"

HOW A SOLDIER'S WIDOW WAS CARED FOR.

BY MRS. DENISON.

"Mother!"

There was no response.

"Mother!" in a sharper tone.

The woman opened weary eyes.

"I told you that he would come at last," she said, faintly.

"Who, mother? Are you dreaming dear?"

"I? Why, yes, I think I was. I am weak this morning. Have I slept late?"

"I let you sleep. It is nearly nine."

"Dear, dear." She essayed to rise, but fell back.

"Why, what is the matter with me?"

"I known what it is," cried the girl, hot tears in her eyes. "It's over work and hunger. Last night I read father's letter again. What faith he had, poor father! 'They will never let a soldier's widow suffer,' he said, and it has been nothing but suffer, suffer, ever since he died."

"They don't know it, child; we can't beg."

"They ought to know it," cried the girl, bitterly. "We shall freeze or starve, I don't know which. There's only a bucket full of coal left. There's not a bit of food in the house, and oh! I'm so cold!"

Vainly the mother whispered to the girl not to cry. Her own tears were falling, and they felt like fire on her cheeks. Suddenly the bell rang. Ellen wiped her eyes, half angrily, threw on a bit of well-worn woolen shawl, and went to the door. A girl some few years older than herself stood there. How warm and rosy she looked, wrapped well in bright furs.

"I am looking for a dress-maker," she said, smiling, "who lives on this street, and I have forgotten her name."

"It must be the opposite house," said Ellen, drearily.

"Pardon me, but you look so sad! Are you in trouble?" leaped impulsively from the pleasant faced girl.

Down rained the tears again.

"Only we've nothing in the house to eat," sobbed Ellen, pride succumbing to hunger.

"Oh! dear me; may I come in? Don't mind; you must let me come in. I think I remember your face. You were at the rooms of the soldiers' aid society once for work."

"Yes; but it was too much for mother," cried Ellen, falling back passively.

"And is she a widow, dear?"

"Father died the week before the war closed," sobbed Ellen, now breaking quite down.

"It's a burning shame you should suffer," cried the warm hearted stranger after she had heard all the story. "Wait a while, I'll be back," and rising impulsively she hurried out of the house.

"Good bye, silk dress, till these poor souls are cared for," she said softly to herself as the tears grew thick on her lashes.—"Thirty dollars will keep them comfortable for months."

Then she went to the grocer's and ordered package after package, till a great basket was filled, and saw it to the door.

"And now, my little soldier girl, be of good cheer. And remember, this is not charity," she added, seeing their grateful glances lifted heavenward; "it's what I owe your father for fighting for my country, and saving it too. Here is something for coal and wood, and perhaps something over for stengthening food for your mother, and a little wine. To-morrow you shall have at least one thick warm dress. I'm afraid I shan't sleep for months, thinking that others such as you, who have their all, are left to suffer the pangs of poverty, and the bitter cold of this terrible winter."

Ellen sprang forward, fell on her knees, clung to the rich, warm garments, as she cried, "Oh! how God will bless you for this, you good, dear angel. You have saved my mother's life, and I can never, never thank you, never repay you."

"My dear," said the sweet girl, with difficulty controlling her voice, "I am still in your debt. A precious human life was given for me and mine."

* * * * * * * *

"And, Milly, what of the silk dress?" cried merry voices, as her sisters crowded about her.

"Why, I gave part of it to a soldier's widow and part to a soldier's orphan. And if papa will give me the money for a velvet cloak I'll hunt up some more."

"Oh! give away all the money!"

They stood aghast.

She painted the dreary room, the mother, hollow-eyed and wasted, the girl who had as good a right to the comforts of life as any of them, the last sad letter of the patriot, cold, hunger, and death that would certainly have come.

"Let's give 'em a rouser," cried Hal, a bright boy of eleven. "Here's my slate money; the old ones will do."

So they all contributed till one soldier's family at least was put beyond want that fair Christmas week.

Sons and daughters of luxury, will you go and do likewise.

CHRISTMAS IN GERMANY.

A writer in the Methodist discourses on customs in Germany. Apropos of the holiday, he says:

None know better how to make "presents" or to invent souvenirs. For a German not to know the birthdays and wedding anniversaries of all his intimate friends, and not to commemorate them by some token of affection, however slight (for the value is nothing compared to the sentiment), is a barbarism, a sacrilege. In large families, these commemorations, reaching from the grand-parent to the yearling babe, and extending out to all his dear friends, keep up, of course, an almost continuous exercise of kindly attentions and forethought; and the Germans have quite universally a peculiar tact of clothing these beautiful little things with dramatic surprise, so as to render the "manner" infinitely more precious than the "matter." The lowliest village schoolmaster's birthday is known to all his rustic flock, and his cottage on that day is a shrine of pilgrimage to all the little feet of the hamlet. Flowers, books, cheeses, loaves of bread, embroidered slippers, chickens, geese, even young pigs, are showered upon him. He is decked with bouquets, and his humble home garlanded within and without; he is addressed in original doggerel, and serenaded with music and dancing. And thus, also, fares the village pastor; and all these things are done so heartily, so joyously, as to be evidently spontaneous, never ceremonious—as much a joy to the donors as to the recipients. Add to these domestic occasions the public festive days of the Church and the State, and you can imagine that German life has holidays enough. Christmas and similar days are occasions of incredible festivities throughout Germany. Santa Claus has no better dominion.

CHRISTMAS IN NORWAY.

Nowhere, perhaps, is the conventional greeting, "A Merry Christman," more appropriate than in Norway. Here the Yule or Christmas is celebrated as a national feast by all the inhabitants, from the poor cotter to the wealthy Udaller.

In the mountain districts especially, this one great holiday of the year is kept with a heartiness and a primitive hospitality unknown in less remote regions. All work is suspended for thirteen days. The entrance of every house is decorated, and the walls of the kitchens are roughly adorned with gaudy pictures, fantastically painted in water-colors. Throughout Christmas Eve and Christmas Day the merry-making is entirely domestic, restricted to the members of each family and household. Not even a friendly visit is paid. On the following days the neighbors assemble at each other's houses by turns for carousing. No regular meal is provided, but open house in kept, the table richly spread for all comers. No stranger is allowed to leave a house until he has partaken of the strong Yule ale, which is served in true Norwegian fashion, cask following cask in rapid succession. A sort of recitative is chanted from time to time:

"Let the bowl pass quickly,
Joyfully let it circle
Round the table,
Nobly, richly spread."

On these occasions the servants sit at the same table with the host, his wife, and family. All are dressed in their gala attire of rich colored cloth, trimmed with gold and silver braid, the women wearing caps and aprons of brilliant hues. The oldest man present belonging to the family presides, sitting in a high wooden chair.

CHRIST-KINDEL.

A German correspondent writes:

"Why is it that your native-born Americans spell this word in a way to make it not only lose its lovely sense, but even to make it entirely senseless? 'Kriss Kringle,' you spell it, and if nobody checks you in this obnoxious orthography, a stupid, senseless word will receive the privilege of augmenting the English vocabulary, when, by a very little care, it could be enriched with a beautiful, friendly, and sensible expression.

"Christ-Kindel means, The little child Christ; Jesus, the little child; 'L'Enfant Jesus,' as the French say. The evening before Christmas the legend lets the child visit the houses where there are some good-natured fellow-children.

"In France they have no Christmas tree; but nevertheless the children know that 'L'Enfant Jesus' is coming, and they put their shoes outside of their house doors, or in the ashes of the chimney, being certain to find on the next morning a copper or even a silver or gold piece, in them.—'L'Enfant Jesus,' they know, rewards in this way their good behavior during the year.

"In Germany there is not a house without a Christmas tree. On the night before Christmas Christ-Kindel comes in the best room in the house, illuminates the tree, and puts on it and under it whatever all good children during the whole year hope to get.

"The most lovely and innocent feast, in fact the feast of children—this essentially German feast having finally made the 'tour de mond'—is it not proper, while you Americans have accepted the theory, to accept also the name, and not spoil it by an atrocious orthography? Is it not a great deal better to spell Christ Kindel than to strangulate it into the nonsensical expression of Kriss Kringle?"

A SOMERSETSHINE preacher—a collier—adopted a very strange device to gain the attention of his hearers, who perhaps were of a sporting turn. He gave out for a text: "I can do all things." He then paused, and, looking at the Bible keenly, said, in his own native Somersetshine dialect: "What's that thee says, Paul—'I can do aal things?' I'll bet thee half-a-crown o' that." So he took half-a-crown out of his pocket, and put it on the book. "However," he added, "let's see what the apostle has to say for himself." So he read on the next words: "Through Christ that's strengtheneth me." "Oh," says he, "if that's the terms of the bet, I'm off." And he put the half-crown into his pocket again, and preached his sermon on the power of Christian grace.

PATIENCE.—Nothing teaches patience like the garden. We may go round and watch the open bud from day to day; but it takes its own time, and you can not urge it on faster than it will. All the best results of a garden, like those of life, are slowly, regularly progressive.

A FOPPISH nobleman, who saw Descartes enjoying himself at the table, having expressed his astonishment that a philosopher should exhibit such fondness for good cheer, got his answer for his pains: "And pray, my lord, did you think that good things were only made for fools?"

THE last novelty in sewing machines is one that will follow the thread of an argument.

LIFE IN NEW YORK.

Black-Mailing.—A Minister falls among thieves.

On Broadway, below Fourteenth Street, stood a church that at one time was one of the most fashionable in the city. The congregation was wealthy and large, the minister eloquent and popular. The belles of the city, with the young and the fashionable, crowded the church when the pastor filled the pulpit. In the full flush of his popularity, when a pew could not be hired at any price, when any salary would have been paid to him that he demanded, the minister disappeared. Quite late on Saturday night the vestry received a letter from the rector, dated off Sandy Hook. The letter tendered the rector's resignation, and announced that he had sailed that day at noon in one of the Cunard steamers for Europe. The parish were surprised and alarmed. The whole affair was a painful mystery. Here was a minister, settled over a flourishing and liberal charge, with a fine church and parsonage, a church crowded with the elite of the city, with a salary equal to any demands he might make, with the best singing in the city, and all the popular appliances, who had suddenly resigned, and privately left the country, to go no one knew where.

The story is a romance. The explanation came after the minister had completed his European tour. At midnight the door bell of his parsonage was violently rung. Going to the window, the minister saw a man standing on his door-stone, and he demanded his business. He came with a message, he said, from a dying woman. Hastily dressing himself, the good man came to the door and received the message. Just around the block was a poor woman, and she was dying. Her only treasure was a babe. She could not die in peace unless her babe was baptized. If his reverence would come to her dying pillow, and administer that sacrament, the blessings of a poor dying woman would be his reward. It was much to ask, and at midnight too, but his great Master, who loved the poor, would not have denied such a request as this.

His humane and religious sympathies were aroused, and the minister followed the messenger. Common prudence would have said, "Take a policeman with you. Call up a friend, and get him to bear part in the ceremony." But, dreaming of no peril, he went on his way to do, as he thought, his Master's will. He was soon in a dissolute region, in a street notorious for its uncleanness. The messenger knocked at a heavy gate, that closed up a narrow, dark alley. It opened immediately, and slammed behind the parties like a prison door.—Through a long, narrow, and unwholesome entry, that seemed to be an alley-way covered, the parties took their way. They passed up a narrow staircase, broken and rickety. Lewd women were passed on the stairs. Dark-featured and villainous-looking men semed to crowd the place. With his sacred vestments on his arm, and his book of service in hand, the minister was ushered into a dark and unwholesome looking room. The door was closed behind him, and locked. A dim candle on the table revealed the outline of a dozen persons, male and female, of the most abandoned and desperate class. His inquiry for the sick woman, and the child to be baptized, was greeted by shouts of laughter. He knew he was a victim. He demanded the reason for this outrage. He was informed that his friends who had invited him there wanted money. His standing and character were well known. He was in one of the notorious houses in New York; his midnight visit to that place was well known, and could easily be proved. If he paid one thousand dollars, all would be well. If not, his ruin was certain. Instead of defying the villains, calling on the police, or confiding in his congregation, he thought he could hush the matter up. He might have known that it would all come out, and that every dollar he paid would be used as evidence against him, or as means to extort more. But he was throughly frightened; would not have the thing known for the world; his hand was in the lion's mouth, and he must draw it out as easily as he could; so he gave his obligation to pay the money promptly at noon the next day, which he did. Of course new demands were made from time to time. He was dogged in the streets. Suspicious-looking men stopped to speak with him on the corners. Notorious men rang his door-bell. Mysterious notes, from ignorant, low-bred, and vicious persons,—as the spelling and language showed,—came to his hands, and into the hands of his family. The poor man was nearly distracted. He paid away his own money, and borrowed till his reputation suffered. The threat of exposure hung over him like an ominous sword held by a hair. In a moment of desperation he decided to leave the country, which he did, to the astonishment and regret of his friends.

On his return from Europe, the rector settled in Massachusetts, over a small rural parish. He was soon tracked to his country home. Black-mailing was renewed. His old terror came upon him. Again he acceded to the extortion. The police of New York at length came to his relief. In searching for other game, they came upon proof that this minister was in the hands of black-mailers. Letters were found containing information of his whereabouts, how to terrify him, what sums to demand, and at what times his salary was due. He was relieved from his pursuers. The large sums he had paid were not refunded. His spirits were broken, and he has never recovered his position. I saw him not long since in Canada. He holds a subordinate position, and is preaching to a small parish. He will die a victim of black mailing.—Sunshine and Shadow in New York by Matthew Hale Smith.

TWO FUNERALS FOR ONE MAN.—A very eccentric old gentleman, John Henry Martinstein, who kept an "Old Curiosity Shop" in New Orleans, but who by his assiduous attention to business had realized a handsome fortune, has just died in that city. One of the New Orleans journals relates a very remarkable incident in his life, which, it says, many respectable citizens can vouch for. Many years ago Mr. Martenstein was taken quite sick and went off into a trance, which so nearly resembled death that his demise was announced, and all the preparations made for the burial. On the appointed day the coffin containing the body was placed in a handsome hearse, which, followed by a long train of mourners, was proceeding toward the cemetery, when the horses suddenly took fright, and ran away, the coffin being thrown violently to the ground, and burst open. The surprise and fright of the spectators may be imagined when from the coffin was seen to arise Mr. Martinstein himself, still instinct with life, and presenting in his burial robes a sight from which many ran headlong away. He very quietly walked home protesting against being put away in so summary a manner, and declaring his intention to live for many a long day. This promise he kept religiously, as his lengthened hold upon life sufficiently proves. Not the least curious incident connected with the attempted burial of Mr. Martinstein, was the fact that the undertaker who had been engaged had no idea of being cheated of what he fancied was his just dues, and upon being refused payment for his partially-performed service, brought suit for the amount, and actually obtained judgement in his favor in the lower Court. Mr. Martinstein, however, took an appeal, and the judgment was reversed—the Court ruling that as he had not performed the service for which he had contracted, he was not entitled to pay for the same. There were those who followed the remains of the old gentleman to the grave this time who were also in the cortege when a fortunate accident restored him to his family and friends.

THE Congressional Committee on Retrenchment submitted a Report to Congress on Monday concerning the "whisky frauds" throughout the country, and other interesting matters connected with the revenue. Its disclosures are sufficiently startling to secure attention, and discreditable enough to disgust and discourage an honest taxpayer of any political faith. The report opens with the statement that many frauds yet exist in the revenue department, in kind as heretofore, but not to the same extent; and that what is most needed to secure the proper enforcement of the laws is honest officials. It then proceeds to arraign President Johnson, charging him not only with criminal neglect in the premises, but with retaining in office and befriending those who are known to be defrauding the Government: with removing others whose only offence was disagreeing with him on political questions, and with suspending prosecutions against indicted criminals. The frauds practised by gaugers, store-keepers and distillers, and also compounding houses, are explained with some minuteness, and the defects of the law in relation to these particular matters pointed out. The frauds by settlement, compromises, etc., are also referred to, and better and plainer legislation in this respect is recommended. Considerable space is given in the report to the evidence of Mr. Commissioner Rollins, as explaining many important matters connected with the collection of the revenue. He states, substantially, that previous to the Philadelphia Convention the Commissioner had a potent voice in the appointment of the subordinate officers of the Bureau, but that since the Convention the sole power of appointment was with the Secretary of the Treasury and the clerks in his office, so that now the Commissioner has no more power with reference to the appointment of officers of the revenue service than if he were a clerk in the department—his only prerogative in the premises being the right conferred by law to recommend persons for the office of Supervisor.

VICE President elect COLFAX was entertained by the Union League of Philadelphia, on Saturday night last, and made a brief address giving expression to sentiments which, indicating as they do the counsel which he will give hereafter, and probably indicating the views of Gen. GRANT, are most gratifying. He said that the recent elections had "reaffirmed (to quote the language of the Chicago resolutions) the great principles of impartial justice and equal rights laid down in the immortal Declaration of Independence as the true foundation of democratic government, hailing with gladness every effort toward making these principles a living reality on every inch of American soil." He further said that the voice of the people demand "the most searching retrenchment; honesty, efficiency and higher character in all connected with the public service; rigid guardianship of the Treasury against unwise and extravagant schemes; a financial policy which shall maintain our credit untarnished, appreciate our currency and place us on the firm rock of specie payments." This language shows that the administration of General GRANT will find in Mr. COLFAX one of the most earnest supporters of every measure tending toward thorough and searching retrenchment wherever there is opportunity for economy. With a President of such sterling integrity as GRANT, and a Vice President such as COLFAX, we may hope with reason for such a reform in public affairs as will redound equally to their honor and that of the nation.

THE Rebels in Arkansas do not seem to comprehend that there has been an election for President. The Ku-Klux continue their work as zealously as though they supposed Mr. JOHNSON sure of a four years term in the White House. Peaceable people are fleeing from their homes; the negro militia is out under arms in one or two counties; the Ku-Klux are inciting attacks upon them; the Legislature is resolving against the Ku-Klux; and according to the accounts of the Southern papers themselves, great outrages are committed on both sides. We make bold to predict that seven weeks hence quiet will be restored.

AN important change has taken place in the French Ministry. M. Pinard, who was regarded as the chief representative of the Clerical and anti-Liberal party, has been replaced by M. de Forcade la Roquette, hitherto Minister of Agriculture, and supposed to be less anti-Liberal than Pinard. In the Foreign Department, the Marquis de Lavalette, who is looked upon as the chief supporter of a pacific foreign policy among the Emperor's counselors, takes the place of M. de Moustier. The change seems to indicate that the Emperor begins to consider that his prosecution of the press and other like measures would infallibly endanger the interests of his dynasty.

A RECENT medical writer states that the vices of the American character may be briefly summed up as follows: 1st. An inordinate passion for riches. 2d. Overwork of the mind and body in the pursuit of business. 3d. Undue hurry and excitement in all the affairs of life. 4th. Intemperance in eating, drinking and smoking. 5th. A general disregard of the true laws of life and health.

WITH cogent pertinency the Boston Transcript says: "Mr. Johnson's salary is $25,000 a year. We think it would be a good idea to pay it in a Treasury bond for that amount, on interest, due in seventeen years, with the provision that the interest, as it accrues, be deducted from the principal, instead of being paid to Mr. Johnson."

ON the day of the funeral of the late Baron Rothschild his widow gave orders that every beggar who came to the door should receive a gold twenty-franc piece. The news spread like wildfire among the mendicants, and the amount given away during the day was twelve thousand pounds sterling.

SIXTY prominent graduates of Harvard College have issued an appeal to their fellow graduates throughout the world to raise a subscription of half a million dollars, the interest to be devoted to increasing the College library and salaries of professors.

DEATH OF THADDEUS STEVENS.

CONGRESS adjourned on Monday last to the 5th of January. The death of Mr. STEVENS was announced in the House on Tuesday, impressive speeches being made by his successor, Mr Dickey, who was followed by Messrs. Poland, Moorhead, Maynard, Kelley, Wood, Broomall, Ashley, Miller, Orth, Koontz, Donnelly, Cake, Woodward, Robinson, Sypher, Whittemore, and Covode. Next day handsome tributes to his memory were delivered in the Senate, by Messrs. Cameron, Buckalew, Morrill of Vermont, and Sumner. The unusual number of these tributes, some of them by prominent political opponents, shows the commanding position the illustrious deceased had attained in the councils of the nation.—The speeches fill over thirty columns of closely printed matter in the Congressional Globe. We must content ourselves with a few brief extracts, which will be read with interest.

Mr. DICKEY, after gracefully alluding to his obligations to Mr. STEVENS for kindness and aid rendered him in his earlier days, and his intimacy with him in later life, said—

THADDEUS STEVENS was born at Danville, Caledonia county, Vermont, on the 4th day of April, 1792, and died at his residence in this city at midnight on the 11th day of August, 1868. His parents were poor in a community where poverty was the rule and wealth the exception. Of his father I know but little, save that he enlisted in the war of 1812 and died in the service. Upon his mother chiefly fell the burden of rearing their four sons. She was a woman of great energy, strong will, and deep piety. Early seeing the ambition and fully sympathizing with the aspirations of her crippled boy, she devotedly seconded his efforts for the acquisition of knowledge, and by her industry, energy, and frugality largely aided him in procuring a collegiate education.—He returned her affection with the full strength of his strong nature, and for many years after he had acquired fame and fortune in his adopted State had the pleasure of making an annual pilgrimage to the home which he had provided for her comfort, and where she dispensed, with means he furnished, a liberal charity.

In the last year of his life, in writing his will with his own hand, while making no provision for the care of his own grave, he did not forget that of his mother, but set apart an ample sum for that purpose, directing yearly payments upon the condition "that the sexton keep the grave in good order, and plant roses and other cheerful flowers at each of the four corners of said grave every spring." In the same instrument, in devising $1,000 in aid of the establishment at his home of a Baptist church, of which society his mother was an earnest member, he says:

"I do this out of respect to the memory of my mother, to whom I owe whatever little of prosperity I have had on earth, which, small as it is, I desire emphatically to acknowledge."

After attending the common school of the neighborhood he fitted for college at the Peacham Academy, in his native county, entered the University of Vermont, and remained there about two years. The college suspending operations on account of the war, he proceeded to Dartmouth, and graduated at that institution in 1814. After reading law at Peacham in the office of Judge Mattocks, for some months, he left his native State and settled in Pennsylvania in 1815, first in the town of York, where he taught an academy and pursued his legal studies. The rules of court in that district having required students to read one year in the office of an attorney, he went to Belair, Hartford county, Maryland, and was there examined and admitted to practice in August, 1816. He at once returned to Pennsylvania, and opened a law office in Gettysburg, in the county of Adams, and entered upon the practice of his profession in that and adjoining counties.

Mr. STEVENS first engaged actively in politics with the rise of the Anti-Masonic party in 1828—29, which he joined in their opposition to secret societies. He was elected to the popular branch of the Legislature of his State, in 1833, as a representative from the county of Adams, and continued to serve in that body almost without interruption until 1840, during which entire period he was the leader of his party in the Legislature, if not the State. During this service he championed many measures of improvement, among others the common-school system of Pennsylvania, which at a critical moment he saved from overthrow by a speech which he always asserted to have, in his opinion, been the most effective he ever made.

In 1837—38 Mr. STEVENS was a member of the convention called to revise the constitution of Pennsylvania, an assemblage which numbered as members many of the strongest men of the State, among whom Mr. Stevens stood in the front rank. This convention, notwithstanding the able and strenuous opposition of a strong minority, led by Mr. Stevens, inserted the word "white" as a qualification of suffrage, thus disfranchising a race. On this account he refused to append his name to the completed instrument, and stood alone in such refusal. For the same cause he opposed, but unsuccessfully, the ratification by the people.

The remains of Mr. STEVENS lie in Lancaster, in a private cemetery establised by an old friend, in a lot selected by himself, for reasons stated in the touching and beautiful epitaph prepared by himself for inscription upon his tomb:

"I repose in this quiet and secluded spot, not from any natural preference for solitude, but finding other cemeteries limited by charter rules as to race, I have chosen it that I might be enabled to illustrate in my death the principles which I have advocated through a long life—equality of man before his Creator."

After an eloquent eulogy on Mr STEVENS great abilities—his genial nature—his devotion to human rights—Mr. Dickey closed by offering the customary resolutions. Mr. Moorehead, of this State, said:

"My acquaintance with Thaddeus Stevens began during the administration of Governor Ritner, of Pennsylvania, about the year 1836. He was then a bold, daring leader of his party. Always in advance of public opinion, he constantly antagonized it with valor and boldness unequaled.—Usually political leaders ascertain the current and drift of public sentiment and accommodate themselves to it. Not so with him. He formed his own opinions and acted on his own convictions. Opposition, so far from weakening his resolves, only nerved him for whatever effort was necessary to the accomplishment of his purpose. He created public opinion and modeeld public sentiment. In this, above all other traits, lay the greatness of Thaddeus Stevens. He was always ready to defend his views, never shrinking from any service required by his fidelity to duty. The victims overthrown by his power and logic, and impaled by his wit, irony, and sarcasm, are legion."

Mr. MOOREHEAD, after referring to Mr. STEVENS' efforts in behalf of Education and Freedom, thus referrrd to one of the stormy Congressional scenes in which Mr. STEVENS participated:

"In 1850, being a visitor in this city, I obtained through the courtesy of a friend admittance to the floor of the House. Mr. Stevens was upon the floor at the time speaking on the evils of slavery. The leading members from the slaveholding States were gathered in front of his desk. As he portrayed the degradation and crime of slavery in such a manner as he only could portray them, scowls settled upon their brows contempt curled their lips, and oaths could be distinctly heard hissing between their teeth. This was in the days when southern gentlemen enforced their arguments with an appeal to the duel, and southern ruffians resorted to the bowie-knife and bludgeon. I felt alarmed for him, but he proceeded unembarrassed by interruptions and apparently unconscious of the mutterings of the storm. As reaching his climax, he spoke of Virginia, the proud mother of Presidents, become a breeder of slaves for the southern market, the anger of her Representatives could scarcely be restrained; yet he was cool as if addressing a jury in his county court-house. This conveniently illustrates the last remark I wish to make, namely, that Thaddeus Stevens was pre-eminently a brave man, who would do and dare everything in the vindication of what he believed to be the truth. But, Mr. Speaker, he is gone; peace be to his ashes. Vermont has the honor of his birth, Pennsylvania the more enduring honor of having adopted him as her son; for were not her valleys his home, her temples of justice his shrine, her legislative halls his first political prize, her people his constituents, her interests his study, her progress his delight, her honor his glory, and is not her soil his grave? Let us imitate his virtues and cherish his memory."

Mr. ORTH, of Indiana, in the course of his remarks, referred to Mr. STEVENS' early devotion to the principles which commanded his unswerving support in later years:

I remember an incident, which occurred during my schoolboy days at Gettysburg, at once illustrating his devotion to the cause of free speech and his influence over the minds of those with whom he was brought in contact.

In 1837 the anti-slavery question began to be agitated in various parts of the country, and Professor Blanchard, of Cincinnati, one of the earliest advocates of emancipation, visited Gettysburg for the purpose of delivering a series of anti-slavery lectuers. The very announcement of his purpose created an intense excitement in the community, for Gettysburg is situated within a few miles of the old Mason and Dixon's line, and an abolition lecturer would have been just as welcome in Maryland as in the border counties of Pennsylvania.

The professor called his meeting and challenged discussion. The challenge was accepted by two of the most prominent citizens of the borough; but at the close of the debate resolutions were passed deprecating any further agitation of the subject, and plainly intimating to the professor that his presence was no longer desirable in that community—a hint which in those days was very generally understood.

Mr. STEVENS had been absent on professional business; but on his return, learning what had been done, another meeting was called, and the court-house was soon filled with an angry and excited audience. He requested some friend to move a reconsideration of the resolutions, and then proceeded to address the meeting. Those who heard his effort on the occasion will never forget it. His manner was calm, deliberate, impressive, and the excited crowd listened with earnest attention. To listen was to be convinced. Warming gradually with his subject, he enforced the right of free discussion on all subjects with a power and an eloquence which his audience had never heard. The sacred rights of citizenship, secured by constitutional guarantees, were defended by a master hand. In turn he used persuasion, entreaty, argument, wit, and sarcasm, until finally, turning to his old neighbors and friends, he appealed to their sense of honor and justice, to their individual reputation, and the reputation of their community, as deeply involved in their contemplated proceedings; and when he took his seat the resolutions, which had been previously adopted without a dissenting voice, found no one bold enough to advocate their passage. On the contrary, a new set of resolutions were introduced and passed with singular unanimity affirming the right of free discussion and inviting this early anti slavery missionary to continue his labors.

The triumph was complete, not only for Mr. Stevens, but, what was infinitely more gratifying to him, it was a triumph of reason over prejudice; and I need hardly add it was the last attempt to apply the "slaveholder's gag" in that portion of our country.

Our Representative, Gen. KOONTZ, closed an eloquent eulogy as follows:

"Mr. STEVENS has been aptly styled the great Commoner of the United States. In many respects he was like the great Commoner of England. Like him he was bold and fearless in the advocacy of the measures he espoused. Like the elder Pitt he was not sordid. His worst enemy could not say of him that he enriched himself at the expense of the public. Like him he carried his measures often by his terrible earnestness, often by his withering sarcasm and fiery invective. Like him he rose into great and commanding influence in the nation, and successfully carried out the measures he had so dauntlessly advocated.

But, sir, time does not permit me to extend these remarks. A great man has fallen. This Hall will no longer resound with his eloquence or the nation be thrilled with his patriotic utterances, but in the ages to come, the heart of the patriot and lover of humanity will swell with joy and gratitude, at the mention of the name of Thaddeus Stevens.

Judge WOODWARD, a bitter political opponent, spoke frankly of Mr. STEVENS' great abilities, self-reliance, devotion to principle, honest purpose, supreme contempt for week-kneed politicians, and cited an incident in his early life, to illustrate his influence over popular assemblies:

It was during this period, said Mr. Woodward, that I met Mr. Stevens in a popular convention held in the court-house at Harrisburg, and which was called the "Integrity of the Union Convention." Alarmed at the tendency of the measures of New England abolitionists the people of Pennsylvania sent delegates to Harrisburg to strengthen the bands of the Union. Mr. Stevens ridiculed the convention into nothingness.—Affecting excessive solicitude for the "integrity of the Union," he brought his matchless powers of invective and sarcasm to bear against every measure that was proposed, and, with the adoption of some unimportant resolutions, the convention vanished.

As a lawyer Mr. Stevens was bold, honorable, and candid, clear in statement, brief in argument, and always deferential to the bench. He was not copious in his citation of adjudged cases. I think he relied more upon the reasons than upon the authorities of the law. Indeed, his tastes inclined him rather to the study of polite literature than of the black letter. He loved Pope's Essay on Man more than Siderfin's Reports. Yet he betrayed no defect of preparation at the bar. He always came with a keen discernment of the strong points of his case, and he spoke to them directly, concisely, and with good effect. His humor was irrepressible and trenchant; sometimes it cut like a Damascus blade. He was a lucky lawyer who would go through an argument with Mr. Stevens without being laughed at for something. Mr. Stevens' legal sagacity was exhibited here, in the presence of all of us, when he suggested the eleventh article of impeachment, which came nearer costing the President his official life than all the other articles together.

In the Senate, Mr. SUMNER delivered an impressive and carefully prepared eulogium. We have room only for the closing paragraph:

It is as a defender of human rights that Thaddeus Stevens deserves our homage. Here he is supreme. On the other questions he erred. On the finances his errors were signal. But history will forget these and other failings, as it bends with reverence before these exalted labors by which humanity has been advanced. Already he takes his place among illustrious names, which are the common property of mankind. I see him now, as I have so often seen him during life. His venerable form moves slowly and with uncertain steps; but the gathered strength of years is in his countenance and the light of victory on his path. Politician, calculator, time-server, stand aside! A hero-statesman passes to his reward.

BOOK NOTICES.

NEWSPAPER DIRECTORY.—G. P. ROWELL & Co., the New York Advertising Agents, are about issuing a complete American Newspaper Directory. It is a compilation much needed, since nothing of the kind having any claims to completeness has ever been published.

Messrs. ROWELL & Co. have spared no pains or expense to make the forthcoming work complete. We understand the book will be a handsome octavo volume of about 300 pages, bound in a dark cloth, and sold for Five Dollars per copy.

As the publishers are Advertising Agents, their issuing a work containing so much information, usually jealously guarded by those in that business, shows that they are confident of their ability to be of service to advertisers, or they would not so readily place in their hands the means of enabling every one to communicate direct with publishers if they so desire.

HORACE GREELEY purposes to write during the year 1869, an elementary work on Political economy, wherein the policy of Protection to Home Industry will be explained and vindicated. This work will first be given to the public through successive issues of THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE, and will appear in all its editions—DAILY, $10; SEMI-WEEKLY, $4; WEEKLY, $2 per annum.

HEARTH AND HOME.—Under this title Messrs. Pettengill, Bates & Co., intend to issue a new weekly illustrated Agricultural and Fireside Journal of 16 handsome pages, devoted to the interests of Farmers, Gardeners, Fruit Growers, and Florists. Edited by Mr. Donald G. Mitchell, assisted by a large corps of practical Agriculturists. The Fireside Department edited by Harriet Beecher Stowe, assisted by Mrs. Mary E. Dodge, with Grace Greenwood Madame Le Vert and other able contributors. Mr. Pettengill has been long and favorably known to the press, as one of the most reliable advertising Agents in the country, who always means what he says, and does what he promises. We have no doubt the new paper will be a success. Terms: single copies $4, invariably in advance; 3 copies $10; 5 copies $15. EVERY SATURDAY.—Messrs. Fields, Osgood & Co., Boston, the enterprising publishers of this excellent Weekly, have made arrangements to secure advance sheets of the new serial entitled "New Uncommercial Samples," from Charles Dickens's magazine, All the year Round, which will promptly appear in Every Saturday. Anthony Trollope's story, "He knew He was Right," is also now in course of publication with other interesting matter by the best of writers. Fields, Osgood & Co., aim at a high standard, and our readers will find all their publications, "The Atlantic Monthly," "The young Folks," and "Every Saturday," entertaining and profitable investments.

We have been favored with an advance copy of the Christmas No. of Forney's Weekly Press, prepared expressly for the Holidays. It is a first class eight sheet paper, of 48 columns, with original and select articles, poetical and prose, especially adapted to Christmas reading. In the original department we have contributions from the pens of the leading editors of the Press, John W. Forney, and his son J. W. Forney, jr., Hon. John Hickman, Charles G. Leland, R. S. Mackenzie, Capt. W. W. Nevin, James P. Boyd and A. E. Lancaster. It is an interesting No., and can be had of all Newspaper dealers. The Press is an ably edited, live Radical newspaper, fully up the requirements of the day. If any our readers want a live city paper, daily, tri weekly, or weekly, we advise them to try Forney's Philadelphia Press.

LIFE IN NEW YORK.—Messrs. J. B. Burr & Co., Hartford, Conn., have published a new work, entitled "Sunshine and Shadow in New York," by Matthew Hale Smith, which cannot fail to become popular and command a ready sale. We are given an insight to the great facts which underlie the marvellous success of the great metropolitan city; the jarring conflicts which mark her political history, the fortunes made and unmade there in a day, and the how and why thereof; together with a large amount of interesting and valuable matter bearing upon its merchant princes, prominent public characters, and institutions famous and infamous. Mathew Hale Smith is a lively, piquant, racy writer, and in these pages the reader is pleasantly lead along to learn and know much that it will interest him to know, as well of the dark as the light side of New York Life. And yet, while there is much to interest and warn, there is nothing which can offend the sense of propriety. On the first page of to day's issue will be found a short extract from the work, illustrating the art of blackmailing. It is a work that will sell rapidly. We understand that an authorized Agent will canvass Adams county very shortly for this and other publications.

"WITHOUT PARALLEL IN HISTORY."

Such is the comment upon the energy and rapidity with which the Union Pacific Railroad has been constructed, by a Board of three special commissioners appointed by the President in September last, to make a thorough personal examination of that line so far as then in operation. Eight hundred and ninety miles were thus inspected by the Commissioners, who concluded their detailed report in these words:

"Taken as a whole, the Union Pacific Railroad has been well constructed. The general route for the line has been exceedingly well selected, crossing the Rocky Mountain range at some of the most favorable passes on the continent, and possessing capabilities for easy grades and favorable alignment unsurpassed by any other railway line on similar elevated ground. The energy and perseverance with which the work has been urged forward, and the rapidity with which it has been executed are without parallel in history. In the grandeur and magnitude of the undertaking it has never been equalled. Deficiencies exist, but they are, almost without exception, those incident to all new roads. The country has reason to congratulate itself that this great work of national importance is so rapidly approaching completion under such favorable auspices."

Upon the showing made by the Commissioners' report, the issue of United States Bonds (which by the national charter are allowed the Company, at the rate of about $28,000 per mile,) was ordered continued, and $1,920,000 was thus delivered on Dec. 6th and 12th. The Company issue, by authority, their own First Mortgage Bonds to the same amount as the Government subsidy, these bonds being a first mortgage upon the entire line. They are offered for sale by the Treasurer and the authorized agents of the Company, at par and accured interest from July 1 in currency, those who purchase before January 1 receiving the benefit of the premium upon the half-yearly gold coupon.

More than 400 miles have been added this year to the finished portion of the Union Pacific. An army of men are still at work in grading the track and distributing the ties and iron in advance of the tracklayers. Not less than eight million dollars have been thus expended by the Company in advance of the completed road, and the work will be so pushed during the winter, that by the summer of 1860 the tracklayers of the Union and Central Pacific Companies will meet, and the railroad to the Pacific will be an accomplished fact. The Bonds of the Company, at their present price, pay a handsome interest; and both principal and interest are so fully secured as to make these First Mortgage Bonds one of the safest and most desirable investments.

HOUSEKEEPERS, and all others wanting anything in the house-keeping line, will do well to call at Col. C. H. BUEHLER'S extensive Ware-room, near the Passenger depot, on Carlisle street, who has on hand a very large assortment of Stoves of the best manufacture, Cooking, Parlor, Office, and Chamber Stoves, for wood or Coal; also Hollow Ware, Tin Ware, Japan Ware, Britannia Ware, Bird Cages, and a general assortment of Kitchen utensils. Also Coal and Lumber of all kinds. 1f

ANOTHER NOTICE.—There is considerable amount of money due me on the books of the late "Adams Sentinel"—the non-payment of which subjects me to great inconvenience, as I am mainly dependent upon this as a means of support for my family, and the liquidation of debts I trust, therefore, that this will be the only notice required to induce those who owe me to pay their indebtness AT ONCE.

R. G. HARPER.

A SURPRISE.—We were astonished the other day at the number of persons we met on the streets, carrying packages of Dry Goods, Queensware, &c., and upon inquiring, found they had all come from DUPHORN'S, corner of the Square and Carlisle street. He seems to have created quite an excitement with the low prices at which he is now selling goods. Give him a call before you make your purchases. 1f

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, August 15th, 1867.

Allow me to call your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo. Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement by liquor obtained from Juniper Berries, containing very little sugar, a small proportion of spirit, and more palatable than any now in use. The active properties are by this mode extracted.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists generally, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its action principle) leaving a dark and glutinous decoctive. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exists. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 16 Years' Experience in Philadelphia, and now located at his Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway, New York.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise.

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN,
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil, in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The Constitution, once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to Consumption or Insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequaled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from habits of dissipation, imprudence in, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists every where. Price—$1.25 per bottle, or six bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

RESIGNED.—Rev. S. Henry has resigned the Pastorship of the new Lutheran church in Littlestown, and accepted a call from the Lutheran church at Still Valley, Warren county, New Jersey.

We notice that Col. Batchelder has the sketch of his large painting representing the Third Division of the First Army Corps in the first day's fight at Gettysburg, on exhibition at 225 South Sixth street, Philadelphia.

FAIR.—A Fair will open at Mount Rock, on Saturday next, and continue during the Holidays, the proceeds to be applied to the purpose of erecting a Chapel, and for the maintenance of a Catholic school at that place.

TO BE CLOSED.—The Stores and places of business in Gettysburg will be closed on Christmas day, as usual. The Post office will be opened from 8 to 9 A. M., and from 5 to 6 P. M., and will be CLOSED the balance of the day.

BORDER DAMAGES.—The "Damage Commissioners" give notice that all claims for damages must be filed with their Clerk at Harrisburg before the 15th day of January. Claims will not be accepted after that date.

SCHOOL HOUSE BURNT.—The public school house at Whitestown was destroyed by fire on the night of the 11th inst. A large number of books were also burnt. The building had shortly before been put in thorough repair. No one seems to have any idea as to how the building caught.—Compiler.

GRAND CONCERT.—The Arendtsville Musical Association intend to give two Concerts on the 1st and 2d of January next, consisting of Speeches, Dialogues, Burlesques, Vocal and Instrumental Music. The exercises will be varied and interesting, with something to suit the taste of all. The public are invited to attend.—Admittance—adults 15 cents; children 10 cents.

DR. McCRON'S LECTURE.—Don't forget the Lecture by Rev. Dr. McCRON, of Baltimore, in Agricultural Hall, on Monday night next. The public are cordially invited. Dr. McCRON'S Lecture is delivered in response to an invitation from "Good Samaritan Lodge 336 A. Y. M." of this place, which defrays all expenses. Hence no tickets will be issued—admittance being FREE to all who may desire to attend. Let there be a full house.

SALES.—Abraham Sheffer has sold his farm, near Petersburg, to John Wagner, 48 acres, at about $90 per acre.

Judge Ziegler has sold one of his new houses, in East Middle street, to S. Summers, at $3,000, cash.

E. Hiteshew, of Petersburg, Y. S., has disposed of his entire stock of goods and room, to Messrs. Griest & Bowers, for $15,500, cash.

Jacob Mickly, D. of D., has sold his farm in Cumberland township, 77 acres, with 10 acres of mountain land in Franklin township, to James A. Grimes, of this place, for $5,000.

AT WORK.—The Commissioners of the "Adams County Railroad Company" are making a vigorous effort to push the contemplated Railroad to put Petersburg in communication with the cities, and are about to open books for subscriptions to the capital stock, as will be noticed by advertisment in to-day's paper. The proposed railroad would open up a rich and productive region, and it is to be hoped that farmers and others interested will manifest their appreciation of the enterprise by liberal subscriptions.

KILLED.—Many of our readers will remember two Italian boys who, a few months ago, played with violin and harps in our streets, picking up such little change as citizens saw fit to give. We notice that these boys last week met with an accident in Williamsport, while crossing the rail road track, which resulted in the death of the larger, and the serious injury of the smaller boy. A considerable amount of money was found in their possession.

A WARNING.—We understand that a number of the Stakes put down by Lt. CHASE'S corps of Topographical Engineers, in their survey of the Battle-field, have been pulled up or removed. This survey is being made under the orders of the U. States Government, and the removal of these stakes necessarily interferes with the prosecution of the survey. It may have been done thoughtlessly by parties not cognizant of the importance of leaving these marks undisturbed until the survey is completed. It will be well, however, for all parties to bear in mind that this survey is being made under official authority and direction, and that any interference with the stakes or marks subjects the offender to a criminal prosecution. We have within a few days seen a letter from the Attorney General of the State, in which he gives the opinion that the Act of March 31, 1860, in regard to removal of land-marks, &c., is applicable to the stakes and marks put down in this survey. The act makes their removal a criminal offence, subjecting the offender to a fine of not less than $500, and imprisonment not exceeding one year. It may not be improper to remark that Lieut. CHASE, who has charge of the Surveying Corps, in the prosecution of this survey is acting under military orders, which of course are imperative. We know him, however, to be a perfect gentleman, courteous in his demeanor, and disposed to give as little annoyance to farmers and others as possible. The importance of the Battle of Gettysburg has induced the Government to order a topographical survey of the field, and it is to be hoped that all good citizens will render every possible facility in the work, instead of interposing obstacles.

THE "GRECIAN BEND" AGAIN.—As we have not been thus far favored with the sight of this new feminine style of fashionable gear, in these parts, we have to rely on what is said of it by more fortunate drivers of the quill. The editor of the Plymouth Rock has seen it, having been recently drawn to Boston, and thus discourses of what he saw on Witen street:—The frame or figure upon which the superstructure was fastened, was apparently designed for a woman, though excepting the height, face, and the ordinary substitute for a bonnet, there was nothing to indicate the form by which God illustrates female beauty and loveliness. The dress worn was a brown poplin, profusely trimmed with magenta trimming, and this was spread over a something very much the shape of a charcoal maker's "taking-in basket," which being inverted, seemed to have been fastened to the back of the person above the hips. As a counterbalance, the figure had to her bosom apparently two halves of a large sized Valparaiso squash, and with a pair of boot heels some three inches high, and her arms poised to keep herself from toppling over, this female caricature was trying to get over the sidewalk, walking one side at a time, and holding the headway by her heels, which seemed to drop into the bricks very much like the pall or catch drop in a vessel's capstan. We elbowed our way through the crowd to get in front of this gradually moving figure, expecting to see her shedding tears of bitter anguish for having such punishment inflicted upon her, but instead we found her with a sort of well-satisfied air, such as is ordinarily worn by shallow brained women. Who the creature was or what she had done to deserve such a punishment, we were unable to learn, any further than this was a "Grecian Bend," or a bender.

INAUGURATION OF DR. VALENTINE.—The exercises connected with the formal inauguration of Rev. Dr. VALENTINE, as President of Pennsylvania College, in Christ Church, on Monday evening last, were unusually interesting.—After an introductory by the Choir and Prayer by Rev. Dr. SCHMUCKER, Hon. M. McCLEAN, President of the Board of Trustees, briefly but pertinently referred to the early history of the Institution, its difficulties and triumphs, its present commanding position among the educational institutions of the country, the responsible character of the duties devolved upon its presiding officer, and closed by formally handing over to Dr. VALENTINE the keys of the Institution. Prof. STOEVER, the Senior member of the Faculty, followed with a cordial welcome on behalf of himself and colleagues to the President elect and tendering him the assurance of a hearty, earnest sympathy and support in the responsible work to which he had been called. The address of Prof. STOEVER was a carefully prepared effort, abounding in fine thoughts, interesting reminiscencies of the past, classical allusions, and well-timed admonitions. Mr. E. T. HORN, of the Senior Class, on behalf of the students, followed in a neat address of welcome, in the course of which he paid a graceful tribute to the late President, Rev. Dr. BAUGHER, deceased.

The several addresses were well received by the audience and drew forth repeated applause, which broke out into a storm of enthusiasm as Dr. VALENTINE rose to respond. After gracefully acknowledging his obligations for the kind sentiments and cordial welcome by which he had been greeted, and his appreciation of the responsibilities of the position to which he had been called, he proceeded to a formal development of his views as to the true ends of collegiate education and the essentials to attain these ends in the largest perfection. We believe we but express the judgment of all who heard it, when we say that it was a masterly effort, eminently scholarly, and broad, liberal and comprehensive in view. Dr. VALENTINE holds the proper aim of educational effort to be the evolution and development of the mental activities, and would have the Cross the central figure in every system. The use of text-books should go hand in hand with the class-room lectures of the living teacher. He strongly combated the demands of the utilitarian spirit of the age which would arrange the College curiculum with sole reference to the presumed wants of business and political life, and proscribe the study of the dead languages. Still, while giving Latin and Greek their proper position in the studies to engage the attention of students, Dr. VALENTINE insisted upon enlarged facilities and increased attention for the National Sciences, Belles Letters, English Literature, &c., as essential to meet the wants of the age and be in correspondence with the increasing activities of social, moral, scientific and material progress. As to discipline he would largely rely upon the cultivation of a spirit of high-toned honor and self-government on the part of the student. We regret that our limited space precludes more than a passing notice of this able Address. We make a note simply of its leading points. We presume it will be published in connection with the other addresses of the evening.

LITERARY CONTEST.—The friendly contests between the Literary Societies of the College, which in the earlier days of the Institution, formed a prominent and attractive part of the public exercises, but which were suspended some years ago, have been renewed. On Tuesday evening last, one of these contests came off in Agricultural Hall in presence of a large and select audience, the Phrenakosmian being this year the challenging Society. The following was the programme:

Select Orations: "Bernardo Del Carpio," by SAMUEL SWOPE,* Gettysburg, Pa.; "The Baron's Last Banquet," by JOHN GILBERT,† Gettysburg, Pa. Original Orations: Ideals, by J. A. HIMES,* McAllisterville, Pa.; The War in Heaven, by J. M. REIMENSNYDER,† Sunbury, Pa. Debate: Question—Is a Republican form of Government necessarily better than a Limited Monarchy? Affirmative, S. P. FELTON,* Bedford, Pa.; Negative, W. A. LIST,† Wheeling, W. Va.

* Philomathaean. † Phrenakosmian.

The occasion drew out a very large audience, by whom the various performances were evidently well received and liberally applauded. We purposely refrain from critical comments upon the exercises, which, on the whole, were not only interesting but highly creditable to both societies whose representatives contested for excellence. We may remark in brief, however, that the select Orations were both beyond the average of excellence as elocutionary efforts. "Ideals," was a chaste production, full of fine thoughts well expressed, but marred by a too hurried delivery. "The War in Heaven," was a good production, abounding in bold imagery; but it also was marred by faulty delivery, too rapid and excited. The interest of the occasion culminated in the Debate. The affirmative gave opportunity for a glowing eulogy of Republican as compared with Monarchical systems of Government, which was well delivered by Mr. FELTON. Mr. LIST, in opening his reply, conscious that he was charged with maintaining an unpopular positon, at first seemed disposed to ignore the real issue, but finally came up manfully to the work, and in an ingenious, creditable argument endeavored to prove the "worse the better cause."

The exercises were interspersed with excellent Vocal Music by the College Glee Club.

CHRISTMAS.—Christmas—the season of the year when everything else is, or should be, forgotten in the kindly frolicksome observance of the time, when the cares and troubles of the other three hundred and odd days of the year are thrown aside, and all Christendom dons its holiday garments for a right good time—is close upon us, and we presume that all our readers are bethinking themselves of how they shall turn the golden moments to the best profit, and extract from them the largest meed of pleasure. To enable the employees of the "STAR & SENTINEL" office fully to enjoy the festivities of the day, we issue our paper this week in advance of our usual publication day. To all our patrons we extend the greetings of the season, with hearty wishes for a "Merry Christmas."

Christmas without Christmas gifts would be very much like Hamlet with the mad Prince omitted, for among the many pleasant rites which are peculiarily associated with the season, there is none that ante date the custom of bestowing gifts upon relatives or friends as tokens of good will and kindly wishes. We heartily approve the custom and advise all who are as yet undecided as to where and what to buy, to examine our Business Directory, with the corresponding advertisements, and they cannot fail to get something that will please every fancy.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—The fall session of the Public Schools closed this week, after the usual examination, to be re-opened on the first Monday of January next. We understand that on Wednesday evening last, Mr. J. H. WIRT, who has charge of school No. 1, treated his pupils, 27 in number, to a pleasant Sleigh-ride to New Oxford. The entire school took passage in Dr. Tate's large four horse Sleigh, and reaching New Oxford, partook of refreshments, served up by Mr. Wiest, returning safely about 1 o'clock, A. M.

The examinations closed on Wednesday, and we understand were entirely satisfactory to the Board. The pupils of School No. 1 presented their Teacher, Mr. WIRT, with a handsome Portfolio, filled with writing materials.

BORING MACHINE.—We direct the attention of Farmers and others interested to a new and valuable Post Boring Machine advertised in to-day's paper by Messrs. J. B. Trostle and J. Y. Bushey.

TAKE CARE OF YOUR BOOTS AND SHOES.—[illegible] items nowadays, therefore a word or two of advice in regard to their preservation will not be amiss. In the first place, do not expose your shoes or boots to extreme heat. It destroys the vitality of the leather, and renders it liable to crack and break. This is especially the case with those made of patent leather. Wearing gum overshoes is decidedly detrimental to leather. The heat and dampness caused by them destroy the life of the leather shoes over which they are worn. Never use blacking or polish that contains varnish. Many persons ruin their shoes by using cheap blacking, of which vitriol forms the principal ingredient. Vitriol blacking destroys the oil in the leather if used for any length of time. To obviate this difficulty, shoes that are regularly polished should be washed once a month with warm water, and when half dry a coat of oil and tallow applied. They should then be set for a day or two to dry. Thus treated the upper leather will rarely crack or break.

QUERRY?—Why does everybody go to DUPHORN'S for their Dry Goods, Notions, Queensware, &c.? Because he is selling more Goods than were ever before sold in the same store—consequently can afford to sell them cheaper. Don't fail to give him a call. Corner centre Square and Carlisle st.

PRESENTATION.—The students of the Preparatory Department of Pennsylvania College signalized the close of the session last Thursday, by presenting to Prof. EHREHART and his assistants handsome testimonials of regard. Prof. Ehrehart received a fine illustrated edition of Milton, Mr. Wirt of the Junior class making the presentation address. Mr. E. Breidenbaugh, senior tutor, received an illustrated edition of Shakspeare through Mr. Staley of the Junior class; Mr. Hart Gilbert a copy of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, through Mr. Hoshouer, of the Primanian class; and Mr. J. Hay Brown an illustrated edition of Scott's Poetical Works, through Mr. Kunkle, of the Primanian class. A Word to the Wise!

HIGHLY IMPORTANT TO FARMERS!

Renner's Chemical Fertilizer!

THE importance of a quick, active and durable Fertilizer, adapted to the soil of our county, is acknowledged by all Farmers. Having satisfied myself, after long study and careful experiment, that F. C. RENNER'S

Chemical Fertilizer

surpasses all others in adapteiness to all kinds of soil, I have purchased the right for Adams county, and am prepared to fill orders for it promptly and on reasonable terms. It is no humbug, but

HAS BEEN SUCCESSFULLY TRIED

by a number of our Farmers, and is admitted by all who have it to be the best in the market, and the cheapest. I am prepared to furnish this Fertilizer in any quantity, and will deliver

In any town or village in the County, when ordered in not less quantity than a TON. I manufacture it for sale at $50 per ton without bags, or $55 in bags. This fertilizer is composed of the best fertilizing chemicals that can be had. I use no oil of vitriol; it does not contain any ammonia, therefore I do not use it. Neither do I use lime nor ashes.

THE OBJECT OF THE CHEMICAL FERTILIZER is to introduce a fertilizer that will last for a series of crops—not only for one. It contains sufficient animal matter to mature the grain and make it ripen early, while the ammonia forces the growth. I expect to manufacture a large supply this winter for the spring crops, and therefore invite farmers and the public generally to give it a trial on all kinds of Grains and Vegetables.

CAUTION.—I hereby give notice that Farm Rights hereafter sold unless signed by me, are infringements on my Right, and will be prosecuted and dealt with according to law, from which there is no appeal.

All orders will be promptly attended to by addressing

THE
RAILROAD COMPANY
OFFER A LIMITED AMOUNT OF THEIR FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
AT PAR.

NINE HUNDRED AND SIXTY MILES

Of the line west from Omaha are now completed, and the work is going on through the Winter. As the distance between the finished portion of the Union and Central Pacific Railroads is now less than 400 miles, and both companies are pushing forward the work with great energy, employing over 30,000 men, there can be no doubt that the whole

GRAND LINE TO THE PACIFIC
WILL BE OPEN FOR BUSINESS IN THE SUMMER OF 1869.

The regular Government Commissioners have pronounced the Union Pacific Railroad to be FIRST CLASS in every respect, and the Special Commission appointed by the President, says:

"Taking as a whole, THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD HAS BEEN WELL CONSTRUCTED, AND THE GENERAL ROUTE FOR THE LINE EXCEEDINGLY WELL SELECTED. The energy and perseverance with which the work has been urged forward, and the rapidity with which it has been executed are without parallel in history, and in grandeur and magnitude of undertaking it has never been equalled." The report states that any deficiencies that exist are only those incident to all new roads, and that could not have been avoided without materially retarding the progress of the great work. Such deficiencies are supplied by all railroad companies after the completion of the line, when and wherever experience shows them to be necessary. The report concludes by saying that "the country has reason to congratulate itself that this great work of national importance is so rapidly approaching completion under such favorable auspices." The company now have in use 137 locomotives and nearly 2,000 cars of all descriptions. A large additional equipment is ordered to be ready in the Spring. The grading is nearly completed, and ties distributed for 120 miles in advance of the western end of the track. Fully 120 miles of iron for new track are now delivered west of the Missouri river, and 90 miles more are en route. The total expenditure for construction purposes in advance of the completed portion of the road is not less than eight million dollars.

Besides a donation from the Government of 12,800 acres of land per mile, the company is entitled to a subsidy in U. S. Bonds on its line as completed and accepted, at the average rate of about $28,000 per mile, according to the difficulties encountered, for which the Government takes a second lien as security. The company have already received $22,000,000 of this subsidy, of which $1,[illegible] was paid December 6th, and $[illegible] [illegible]

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

THE LONG EVENINGS

Bring leisure hours, when every family needs a good religious paper. THE ADVANCE, started but little over a year ago, already has seventy-five thousand readers. While it represents, denominationally, the practice and principles of the Congregational churches, it is catholic and fraternal in its attitude to Christians of every name, and circulates among all denominations. It is the aim to make it in the best sense a good religious paper especially suited to

FAMILY AND SUNDAY READING.

Many of the best and most popular writers for the religious press are regular contributors to it columns; its editorials discuss topics of live interest; its religious and secular intelligence is most carefully compiled; its selections are choice and fresh, and its children's department always well filled. Its "Notes of the Chicago Noon Prayer Meeting," regularly prepared by one of its editors are eagerly read all over the land.

The price of the paper is $2.50 a year, in advance. Rare inducements for getting up clubs are offered. FIFTY DIFFERENT PREMIUMS for clubs, all along from 2 to 250, make the most attractive list ever offered. It includes something suited to every taste: The Universal Clothes Wringer, Silver Spoons and Forks, Prang's Chromos, Lange's Commentaries, Sabbath School Libraries, Elgin Watches, Communion Services, Cabinet Organs, Church Bells, &c., &c., are upon its list.

HARVEST HOME!

It is always best to canvass for these papers which, already justly popular, are starting the still higher favor. There is a large harvest to reap. THE ADVANCE this fall and winter. The good seed sown has sprung up and ripened, and a host of energetic canvassers is needed to bring in the sheaves. No kinder words, no more hearty commendations of THE ADVANCE have ever been spoken of than at present. Those who take hold of the paper now, will experience the benefit of a cordial feeling, which every week grows stronger.

COE'S COUGH BALSAM!

[illegible]

This long tried and popular Remedy is again called to the attention of the public. As often as the year rolls around, the proprietors annually make their bow to the people, and remind them that amongst the many things required for the health, comfort and sustenance of the family through the long and tedious months of winter, Coe's Cough Balsam should not be forgotten. For years it has been a household medicine—and mothers anxious for the safety of their children, and all who suffer from any disease of the throat, chest and lungs, cannot afford to be without it. In addition to the ordinary four ounce or long in the market, we now furnish our mammoth family size bottles, which will, in common with the other size, be found at all Drug Stores.

FOR CROUP,

The Balsam will be found invaluable, and may always be relied upon in the most extreme cases.

WHOOPING COUGH.

The testimony of all who have used it for this terrible disease during the last ten years, is, that it invariably relieves and cures it.

SORE THROAT.

Keep your throat wet with the Balsam—taking little and often—and you will very soon find relief.

HARD COLDS AND COUGHS

Yield at once to a steady use of this great remedy. It will succeed in giving relief where all other remedies have failed.

SORENESS OF THE THROAT, CHEST AND LUNGS.

Do not delay procuring and immediately taking Coe's Cough Balsam, when troubled with any of the above named difficulties. They are all premonitory symptoms of Consumption, and if not arrested, will sooner or later sweep you away into the valley of shadows from which none can ever return.

IN CONSUMPTION,

Many a care-worn sufferer has found relief and today rejoices that her life has been made easy and prolonged by the use of Coe's Cough Balsam.

IN SHORT,

The people know the article, and it needs no comment from us. It is for sale by every Druggist and Dealer in Medicines in the United States.

A GREAT BLESSING.

[From Rev. L. F. WARD, Avon, Lorain Co., O.

Messrs. Strong & Armstrong, Druggists, Cleveland.

Gentlemen:—It gives me great pleasure to state that my wife has derived great benefit from the use of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure. She has been for a number of years greatly troubled with Dyspepsia, accompanied by violent paroxysms of constipation, which so prostrated her that she was all the while, for months, unable to do anything. She took, at your instance, Coe's Dyspepsia Cure, and has derived GREAT BENEFIT FROM IT, and is now comparatively well. She regards this medicine as a great blessing.

Truly yours,

WOMEN IN ENGLAND.

Women are worse treated in Great Britain than in any other civilized country. High or low, rich or poor, married or single, none of them escape from some of the disabilities, prejudices and injustices from which their sex suffers. They are obliged to endure not only all the pains and penalties inflicted upon the women of other nations, but also certain special injuries and annoyances invented and practiced by Englishmen alone.

The inferior position of English women is first apparent to a foreigner in a variety of little details. Returning from an early morning ride, he notices the cottages of the working-people by the roadside. The women are up and about, making the fires, carrying the coals, opening the house, while the men are still snoring soundly. Or breakfast is being prepared, and you notice the women buttering the bread so as to save their lords and masters the slightest unnecessary exertion. Then you catch sight of a woman on her knees lacing or unlacing a man's boots. If an Englishman wants a pipe, it is the woman who fills it and hands him light; if his pot needs replenishing, it is the woman who procures and pours out the ale; if there be an errand to be done, it is the woman who trots off while the man loafs or reads at home. In short, English women belonging to what are called the lower classes are evidently the servants of men, while in America the men are as evidently the servants of the women, only that this latter service, being that of the stronger to the weaker, never seems like servitude, even in the humblest families, but takes the nobler forms of politeness, solicitude, and duty.

But this sketch has darker tints. These lower-class women not only perform menial services, but they are treated far worse than any other servants in the world.

The women drink also, and society countenances them in this vice. To see an English ale-house or gin-palace, with the women standing up at the counter and behind the counter, is a positive shock to a stranger. Nowhere else can you meet so disgusting a sight, so brutalizing a custom. On the Continent, women are to be seen sitting in cafes or bier-gartens, and sharing their little wine, coffee, or chocolate with male friends; but nowhere on the Continent is there such a licensed Pandemonium as an English bar. In America the drinking saloons are countless; but in none of them would a woman be permitted to enter and call for a drink. There is no express law against the admittance of women, but there is the unwritten law of public opinion that would punish not only the woman who infringed it, but the proprietor of a bar-room in which such an outrage upon decency occurred! A drunken woman is a rarity in every other country; but in England this woful spectacle is as common as the rain.

GIANTS OF OLDEN TIMES.

In one of his recent lectures, Professor Silliman, the younger, alluded to the discovery of the skeleton of an enormous lizard of eighty feet. From this the Professor inferred, as no living specimen of such magnitude has been found, that the species which it represents has degenerated. The verity of his position he rather singularly endeavored to enforce by an allusion to the well known existence of giants in olden times. The following list is the data upon which this singular hypothesis is based:

The giant exhibited at Rouen, in 1830, the Professor says measured nearly eighteen feet.

Gorapius saw a giant that was ten feet high.

The giant Galabra, brought from Arabia to Rome, under Claudius Cæsar, was ten feet high.

Fannum, who lived in the time of Eugene II., measured eleven and a half feet.

The Chevalier Scrog, in his voyage to the Peak Teneriffe, found in one of the caverns of that mountain the head of the Gunich, who had sixty teeth, and was not less than fifteen feet high.

The giant Farragus, slain by Orlando, nephew of Charlemagne, was twenty-eight feet high.

In 1814, near St. German, was found the tomb of the giant Isorent, who was not less than thirty feet high.

In 1599, near Rouen, was found a skeleton whose skull held a bushel of corn, and who was ninteen feet high.

The giant Bacart was twenty-two feet high; his thigh bones were found in 1703, near the river Moderi.

In 1623, near the castle in Dauphine, a tomb was found thirty feet long, sixteen wide and eight high, on which was cut in gray stone these words "Ketolochus Rex." The skeleton was found entire, twenty-five and a fourth feet long, ten feet across the shoulders, and five feet from the breast bone to the back.

Near Palermo, in Sicily, in 1516, was found the skeleton of a giant thirty feet high; the head was as large as a hogshead, and each of his teeth weighed five ounces.

We have no doubt that there were "giants in those days," and the past was perhaps more prolific in producing them than the present. But the history of giants during the olden time was not more remarkable than that of dwarfs, several of whom were even smaller than the Thumbs and Nutts of our own time.

MATERNAL AFFECTION OF THE SPIDER.

A correspondent of Hardwicke's Science Gossip says:

"Spiders always appeared ugly and repulsive to me, until an incident which came under my observation demonstrated that within their unsightly exteriors there resides a spring of genuine parental solicitude and affection that would be well if found more frequently in the possession of many who boast a vastly higher position in 'being's endless chain.' In the course of last summer, I am out for a naturalist's 'constitutional,' when the circumstance alluded to above came under my notice, which, in justice to the 'poison fang' fraternity, I have thought ought to be told. In an old hedge, dry as dust, I found a great many varieties of spiders, which (not being acquainted with Staveley or any other of their friends) I unfortunately cannot name. One of these, a dark colored, grizly-looking jade, I captured, with a view to our becoming better acquainted. Under, and in immediate contact with, the abdomen, she carried a cocoon, containing (I presume) eggs or baby-spiders. In form and size it resembled a small grain of hempseed, and was kept in its place by the first pair of legs clasping it. When the cocoon was severed from her, the mother would not leave the palm of my hand on which I held them, but stood at a short distance, apparently watching intently her precious load, towards which she several times made a rush and with a rapidity that eluded my sight, picked it up, and attempted to make off with it. I several times deprived this dutiful mother of her charge, and as often she proved that she valued her own life less than its loss. Indeed the 'first law of nature,' self-preservation, seemed in her case to have been suspended."

A LITTLE GIRL, one Christmas eve, seeing the sun setting, said: "Mamma, I know what makes it so red over there; Santa Claus is baking."

A WAG seeing a lady at a party with a very low necked dress and bare arms, expressed his admiration by saying she outstripped the whole party.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR
FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.
The Great Desideratum of the Age.
A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but no harm it. If wanted merely for a
HAIR DRESSING,
nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

WE would respectfully call the attention of Principals of Schools, Seminaries, and Teachers of Singing to our New School Song Book,

The Song Cabinet has been adopted by the Board of Education, as the text-book for the Public Schools in the city of New York.

BEEF,
IRON AND PURE BRANDY,
BY DR. HARTMAN,
Regular Graduate of the University of Pennsylvania
It will positively cure Consumption, Coughs and Colds, and all diseases of the Lungs or Bronchial Tubes.
It has been the means of RESTORING THOUSANDS to health who have been given up beyond the reach of medical assistance. It does more to relieve the Consumptive than anything ever known. Unequalled strengthener for delicate Ladies and Children.
EACH BOTTLE CONTAINS THE NUTRITIOUS PORTION OF TWO POUNDS OF CHOICE BEEF.
The Cure of Consumption was first effected by the use of RAW BEEF and BRANDY in Russia, afterwards in France, in which countries I have travelled for years.
I have used it with perfect success in my own family. In presenting this preparation to the public I feel confident that every afflicted one who reads this (even the most skeptical) may become convinced, by a single trial that it is truly a most valuable medicine.
Circulars and medicines sent to any address. Price $1 per bottle—six for $5.

J. H. SHIREMAN'S
REAPERS & MOWERS.
HAVING been agent for this machine last season, I also offer it to the farmer this season. It is well known, having taken the premium at the Bendersville Fair, also at the Gettysburg Mowing Match over seven others, which were considered splendid machines, and likewise at the Dillsburg Mowing Match. Having concluded not to offer any machine that will not give entire satisfaction, I have refused agencies of several other machines, and now offer this one as
THE GREAT MACHINE OF THE SEASON.
Having tried one myself, I know exactly what it will do. I could refer you to scores of farmers who have purchased machines of me, who are highly pleased and say this is the only machine they would use.
Extras always on hand, and repairing done here at my place. This is a great consideration—the machine can be repaired at home immediately, and with much less cost.
Another great saving is the BINDER which is attached to this celebrated Reaper and Mower. It has been thoroughly tried, and given entire satisfaction—requiring no harvest hand except a driver. This Binder can also be attached to the Reapers which have been sold; but cannot be attached to any other machine except Shireman's.
I will here refer you to a few farmers, in different localities, who have bought and used these machines

This machine has a self-rake, side delivery, and is warranted to do its work as above recommended.
Also on hand, SHIREMAN'S SELF-DISCHARGING HORSE RAKE, a first-rate article, which we will sell at the lowest possible price. Warranted to give satisfaction. Also the COLUMBIA RAKE always on hand.
Machines can be seen at my house, three miles south of Gettysburg, or at Mr. Conrad Snyder's Battlefield Hotel.
